1. Students must obey and respect their Instructors, Parents, Teachers and Senior Ranks. They should bow and greet the Masters and Instructors whenever, wherever they meet. Masters and Instructors must be addressed by their last name (e.g. Master O’Toole, Mr. Ng...etc.). When you have a conversation with them, you should address "Sir" or "Miss" at the end of each sentence.

2. Please arrive on time or earlier to stretch in order to prevent injury. Late arrival students should wait at the entrance and will be asking to do their stretching before joining the class.

3. Wear a clean and tidy uniform before entering the dojang. Students should tie up their long hair or use a headband for medium long hair.

4. Bow to the flags, then instructors according to their ranking when entering and exiting the dojang.

5. Students should not enter or leave the class without obtaining permission from Masters or Instructors.

6. To show respect and considering the safety of the class, during the class, parents and others should stay in the viewing area and should not enter the dojang unless you are invited by an instructor. If you have any question, our instructors will be available to assist you.

7. Line up according to the ranking from the right to the left and the front row to the back. Late arrival, not complete or without a proper uniform should line up to the back whatever their ranking.

8. No shoes except the Taekwon-Do training shoes are allowed in the dojang.

9. To prevent injuries, jewelries and watches are not to be worn during training. Finger and toe nails should be kept short. Students with long nails are not allowed to participate in any sparring or target training.

10. Food, alcohol, tobacco, chewing gum, loud conversation, negative behavior and foul language are strictly prohibited in the dojang.

11. Seniors must behave and set a good example for the juniors.

12. Students should always practice at home and try to memorize their patterns before they come to the class. Considering the progress of the class, a special training group in the class will be available to assist the students who had any difficulty for memorizing their patterns.

13. Try not to miss any class as our curriculums are very tight. If you miss any class, please ask your instructors and classmates to catch up what you have missed.

14. Instructors will give notice to the students if we are going to practice sparring in the next class. Students without proper protectors are not allowed to do any sparring.

15. Students are not allowed to teach Taekwon-Do to others without the permission from the Instructor.

16. Students are allowed to use Taekwon-Do for defensive purposes but never be offensive.

17. Students should be polite, honest, humble and always observe the tenets of Taekwon-Do.

History

Tae Kwon-do as it is today was developed and founded by Grand master general Choi Hong Hi 9th degree black belt (9 November 1918 — 15 June 2002). As a martial art it is unique to any other in that it utilizes fundamental principles of physics in the development of technique and power. Grandmaster Choi set out to use his knowledge of "Tae Kyon" an ancient Korean form of foot fighting to develop Tae Kwon do as a uniquely Korean art superior in both spirit and technique to Japanese karate. This art which was modern Tae Kwon Do was founded on the 11th April 1955. Grand master Choi then set himself to the task of bringing Tae Kwon Do to the rest of the world. Renowned for spectacular feats of power and flying kicking techniques said to have been used by ancient Korean warriors to dismount attacking warriors from their horses the popularity of Tae Kwon do spread rapidly to become a martial art practiced all around the globe.

Definition of TaeKwonDo

"Tae" means "foot" or "to strike with the feet". "Kwon" means "hand", or "to strike with the hand". "Do" means discipline, art, or way. Hence TaeKwonDo (foot-hand-way) means literally "the art of the feet and the hands" or "the art of kicking and punching".

Basic Stances

Attention Stance
The feet are at 45 degrees. This is the attention position called at the start of the class and at the end of class.
(Charyot Sogi)

Parallel Ready Stance
This is the basic ready stance in Taekwon-Do. Weight distribution is 50/50. Movements may be performed in this stance - sine wave is generated by coming up onto the balls of the feet and dropping the body's weight.
(Narani Sogi)

Walking Stance
The front leg is bent, with the knee over the ankle, while the back leg is straight. The rear foot is turned out approximately 25 degrees. Weight distribution: 50/50.
(Gunnun Sogi)

L-Stance
The rear leg is bent and the forward leg is almost straight. The toes of both feet point inwards slightly. The body is always either side or half facing in this stance. Weight distribution: 70 percent of the weight is on the rear leg.
(Niunja Sogi)

Fixed Stance
Fixed stance is similar to a lengthened L-stance, except that the weight distribution is even and both legs are equally bent. Whether it is a left or right stance is therefore determined by the forward leg.
(Gojong Sogi)
Sitting Stance
In sitting stance, sine wave is generated by almost straightening the knees, then bending them. Weight distribution is 50/50. There is no obverse or reverse. (Annun Sogi)

Closed Stance
This can be either full facing or side facing. There are four varieties, Moa Junbi Sogi A, Moa Junbi Sogi B, Moa Junbi Sogi C and Moa Junbi Sogi D. (Moa Sogi)

| Moa Sogi ‘A’ - the distance between the philtrum and the fists is approximately 30cm |
| Moa Sogi ‘B’ - the distance between the fists and the navel is approximately 15cm |
| Moa Sogi ‘C’ –the distance between the fists and the abdomen is approx. 10 cm |

Rear Foot Stance
Stand with your front foot facing forwards and the back foot turned 45 degrees to the side, keep the feet quite close together. Weight distribution: 90 percent of the weight is on the rear leg. Additionally, your front foot should be up on the ball of the foot (heel off the ground). This stance appears in Joong-Gun. (Dwi Bal Sogi)

All the following patterns in this manual shall assume you are facing the examiners table at ‘D’.

Patterns are various fundamental movements most of which represent either attack or defense techniques set to a fixed logical sequence. In patterns the student deals with several imaginary opponents under various assumptions using every available attacking and blocking tool from different directions. Thus pattern practice enables the student to go through many fundamental movements in series to develop sparring techniques, improve flexibility of movements, master body shifting and gain rhythmical movements. It also enables the student to acquire certain techniques or sparring. In short a pattern can be compared with a unit tactic or a word if fundamental movement is in a soldiers training or alphabet. Accordingly pattern the ledger of every movement, is a series of sparring, power tests, feats and characteristic beauty. Though sparring may indicate that an opponent is more or less advanced, patterns are a more critical barometer in evaluating an individual's technique.

PATTERNS: ESSENTIAL INFORMATION
The following points should be considered while performing patterns:

1. Patterns should begin and end at exactly the same spot. This will indicate the performer's accuracy.
2. Correct posture and facing must be maintained at all times.
3. Muscles of the body should be either tensed or relaxed at the proper critical moments in the exercise.
4. The exercise should be performed in a rhythmic movement with an absence of stiffness.
5. Movement should be accelerated or decelerated according to the instructions in this book.
6. Each pattern should be perfected before moving to the next.
7. Students should know the purpose of each movement.
8. Students should perform each movement with realism.
9. Attack and defense techniques should be equally distributed among right and left hands and feet.

All patterns listed are performed under the assumption the student is facing "D" (see pattern diagrams). There are a total of twenty-four patterns in Taekwon-Do. The name of the pattern, the number of movements, and the diagrammatic symbol of each pattern symbolize either heroic figures in Korean history or instances relating to historical events.

(Patterns should be learned under the supervision of an official instructor. The Dojang shall not be held responsible for any injuries that may result in attempting or practicing patterns or exercises without proper supervision.)

UNDERSTANDING THE PATTERNS

Each pattern in Taekwon-do has been given a name unlike other forms of martial arts. The name of each pattern represents figures or events of historical importance in Korea. When a student learns a new pattern they should also learn the meaning of that pattern and to know the number of movements in that pattern. By understanding the background in this way the student should also endeavor to always perform any particular pattern to the best of their ability at all times.

SINEWAVE

Motions

Sinewave motion is a movement unique to original Taekwon-do to create maximum force in every moment according to the theory of power. In almost every moment this sinewave is utilized. Sinewave is natural and simple. During class and in seminars Taekwon-do students are being taught to use “sinewave” in their techniques.

What we actually do by performing this sinewave in Taekwon-do techniques is moving the center of our body mass by means of a motion, which would look like a sinus wave if we would draw it.

There are some key benefits to using sine wave that are linked to the training secrets of Taekwon-Do. Moving our center of mass in the motion of a sine wave requires us to keep our arms and legs bent while the body is in motion. To keep the arms and legs bent during motion we need to be relaxed. Relaxing the body adds speed to a technique because we are not all tensed up with one part of the body working against another. Small increases in speed produces large increases the power of a technique.

Secondly, when employing a sine wave we have to use the knee spring properly. That is to say bending the knee is what moves our body up and down as we move forward. Using the knee spring while our body is in motion allows our center of mass to travel along a curve, which by definition is another form of acceleration, which then helps us accelerate into a target.

Finally, when using sine wave we are dropping our body downwards at the end of the technique with helps us use gravity to our advantage and keep our acceleration building until the point of impact.

To correctly apply the sine wave to Taekwon-Do we need to modify the wave shape before we can achieve maximum power. In other words the sine wave is not a uniform curve as shown in the previous figure. The sine wave is modified so that the body drops as it passes the half-way point of the technique, and rises to the maximum height and then drops rapidly at the end. The rapid drop at the end of the technique helps accelerate our mass into the target using gravity to our advantage.

How much of a sine wave should there be in a Taekwon-Do technique? The displacement that the center of mass moves from the zero line to get to the bottom and top of the sine wave this is called the amplitude. Using too much sine wave defeats a technique because all the body’s energy and motion would be dedicated to moving along the sine wave rather than accelerating into the target.
MOTIONS

The basics of sinewave is down-up-down, in other words there is always a downward motion first, followed by an upward motion, and ending in a downward motion. There are however variations on sinewave, which are related to the motion, combination and speed of the techniques used.

In traditional Taekwon-do, the fundamental exercises and the patterns there are five different motions:

- Normal motion
- Continuous motion
- Fast motion
- Connecting motion
- Slow motion

Normal- Motion

In saju jirugi, saju makgi and Chon-Ji patterns the Taekwon-do student learns the normal speed of following movements. This is the first “motion”: normal motion. Movements are performed in normal speed, with a complete sinewave in one breath.

Continuous- Motion

In Dan-Gun the Taekwon-do student learns the second motion: continuous motion. Two movements are consecutively performed, with two sinewave during one breath.

Fast- Motion

Do-San learns the student another motion: fast motion. Two movements are performed consecutively in fast speed, with two breaths.

Connecting- Motion

In Yul-gok there is another new motion: connecting motion. Two movements are performed in one sinewave and one breath.

Slow- Motion

Joong-gun completes the fifth and final motion: slow motion. In slow motion the movement is performed slowly, but according to the theory of power there has to be a slight acceleration at the end of the movement. There is one (slow) movement, one sinewave, in one breath. Slow motion techniques are meant to learn the student body control and balance.

These five motions influence the sinewave, of which there are three variations:

- Full sinewave
- 2/3 sinewave
- 1/3 sinewave

Only in normal motion, continuous motion and slow motion there is a full sinewave (down-up-down).

In fast motion there is 2/3 sinewave, as there is only an upward and downward movement. An example is found in Dosan : the two punches following the apcha busugi. (movements 15 & 16 and 19 & 20)

In connecting motion there is 1/3 sinewave, as there is only a downward movement. An example is found in yul-gok : the punch which follows the second hooking block (movements 16 & 17 and 19 & 20)
Significance of belt colours

In Taekwon-do the colour of each belt represents the rank held by the individual. However the colours are also described in a metaphorical sense to give the student a better understanding of their development and maturity within the art.

- White. Signifies innocence as that of the beginner student who has no previous knowledge of Taekwon-do.
- Yellow Signifies the earth from which a plant sprouts and takes root as the Taekwon-do foundation is being laid.
- Green Signifies the plants growth as Taekwon-do skills begin to develop
- Blue Signifies the heaven towards which the plant matures into a towering tree as training in Taekwon-do progresses.
- Red Signifies danger cautioning the student to exercise control, also warning the opponent to stay away
- Black The opposite to white. Therefore signifying maturity and proficiency in Taekwon-do. Also signifying the wearers imperviousness to darkness and fear

It is important to understand that these grades are stages in each student's development and that achieving a black belt is not the final stage. A new black belt is a novice among black belts.

- 1st to 3rd degree are considered to be novice black belts - Bo Sabum
- 4th to 6th degree are expert black belt - Sabum
- 7th and 8th degree are Taekwon-do masters - Sahyun
- 9th degree black belt is GRANDMASTER

White Belt 10th Kup to Yellow Tag

Essentially when you get your Dobuk your instructor will issue you with your first belt 'White Belt'. In the pages prior to this you would have observed that 'White Belt' signifies innocence, as that of the beginning student who has no previous knowledge of Taekwon-Do.

So your first exercise will be to learn your beginner stances and sine-wave which you will need to be proficient at to progress further up the ranks. You will also learn the basic kicks, punches and blocks to pass your first pattern requirement which is Chon-Ji. There are two exercise patterns which you will learn first.

Sajo Jirugi – Four way punch
Sajo Makgi – Four way block

These exercise patterns are shown on the next two pages, in addition you should learn the basic requirements page.

Sparring - Three Step Sparring - Sambo Matsoki – 1 to 4

Compiled by Kildare Taekwon-do.
8th Kup - Yellow Belt
3 Step Sparring - Sambo Matsoki

Q. Why do we practice 3 Step Sparring? A. To practice focus, distance and timing.

Attacking and Defending
The attacker starts by making a left arm low section outer forearm block in left walking stance and makes a kihap. The defender, in parallel ready stance, then kihaps back to show they are ready to begin. The attacker performs three middle section obverse punches in walking stance, going forward on each punch. The attack is always the same, only the defence moves change.

At 8th Kup level you must learn and be able to demonstrate 3 Step Sparring numbers 1 to 4.

Number 1
1: Move your right leg back into walking stance make an inner forearm middle block (an palmok makgi) to the inside.
2: Move your left leg back into walking stance make an inner forearm middle block to the inside.
3: Move your right leg back into walking stance make an inner forearm middle block to the inside.
Counter: On the spot make a reverse punch (bandae jirugi) to the solar plexus.

Number 2
1: Move your left leg back into walking stance make an inner forearm middle block (an palmok makgi) to the outside.
2: Move your right leg back into walking stance make an inner forearm middle block (an palmok makgi) to the outside.
3: Move your left leg back into walking stance make an inner forearm middle block (an palmok makgi) to the outside.
Counter: Step left leg off to left diagonal forming sitting stance (annun-sogi), executing a left middle punch to the kidney area.

1: Move your left leg back into Left L stance, right knife-hand middle block (sonkal makgi)
2: Move your right leg back into Right L stance, left knife-hand middle block (sonkal makgi)
Counter: Right knife-hand strike (sonkal taerigi) to floating ribs.

1: Move your left leg back into sitting stance make a right outer forearm inward middle block.

Power test techniques

1. Knife-hand strike to target at 45-degree angle
2. Right and Left reverse turning kicks to target at 45 degree angle

One Step Techniques - One Step Sparring - IIIBo Matsoki

One step consists of counter attacks to a single punch in a walking stance. All attacks start from parallel ready stance, first on the right side then on the left side. Counter attacks to punches from either side must be practiced.

The defender must execute efficient blocking or evading techniques followed by counter attacks consisting of a combination of hand or foot striking techniques or take down techniques. Regardless if the defender is to evade or take down their partner they should always follow through to "finish off" their attacker

- It is vital that all techniques are correct and focused on the proper target.
- Proper distance and control must be maintained.
- All kicks and punches must be fully extended to the target without striking.

Therefore demonstrating the exponent's proficiency and control as expected of their grade.
